Von Gaylord Audio was rated the best sounding room by Scot Markwell – The Absolute Sound magazine, at the CES Show 2004 at Las Vegas.

“I have saved what for me was the best for last – the Von Gaylord Audio room. I went there looking to eyeball and maybe hear a set of the new liquid-cooled vacuum tube monoblocks, but ended up being ushered into a small, darkened room where a set of 100Wpc Nirvana triode monoblocks were playing – in combination with a CD and preamp of no particular distinction – into a set of small Legend Audio speakers. I could not believe my ears! This system had it all – dynamic agility and a fair degree of wallop, a convincingly dimensional soundstage, a warm and articulate, seductively sweet midband, and a wonderful sense of air at the top. It is refreshing to see someone put together a system that plays music and gets out of the way so completely, especially at this price.”
